Forecast For Southwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Monday 27 Sep 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Wet and windy at times and feeling much cooler.

Today:
Heavy rain and strong winds quickly clearing from eastern areas. Thereafter, sunny spells and blustery showers are expected, some heavy. It will feel significantly cooler than recently, especially when exposed to the strong wind. Maximum temperature 18 deg C (64 deg F).

Tonight:
Through the evening and overnight it will remain breezy with some coastal showers. For more inland regions lengthy clear spells are expected. A much cooler night than of late. Minimum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Tuesday:
A wet day with frequent showers and longer spells of rain, some of this heavy. Remaining breezy and feeling rather cool given the wind and rain. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Drier and sunnier on Wednesday before further wet and windy weather arrives for both Thursday and Friday. Temperatures remaining significantly cooler.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.